THE MORO ALAMO.

"Thermopylae had its messenger of defeat; the Alamo had none." Not for years after the hideous butchery of Texans, women and children, at the Alamo by the half-civilized Mexicans was it known that a single life escaped. It is now pretty well accepted that a baby—a girl—was hidden among the slain, and later rescued alive. But it could tell no tale of the fateful day.

Today the arms of the United States are tarnished with as horrible a crime as ever old Santa Anna conceived, and we are scoffed at with bated breath by the civilized nations of the earth. So far there is no evidence that even one of a hundred or more babes has escaped, the fiendish cruelty of Wood's brigade in the Philippines.

We were first led to believe that the Moros of Mount Dajo were rebellious warriors, and when pursued to their stronghold had turned and attacked our troops. The truth, as coming to light, is that they were a band of petty thieves (as about all these uncivilized wretches are), two hundred men, and a like number each of women and children, making six hundred in all. Their little depredations no doubt had harassed the surrounding country. But this was little excuse for the barbaric annihilation that civilized arms heaped upon them—shot down and bayoneted men, women and babes without discrimination.

The Philippines cost us originally in cash twenty millions of dollars; how much since, those that know will not tell. But with all the wealth of Golconda we could not wipe from history the stain upon our arms in March, nineteen-and-six, our latest battle.

One of the well-known hotels of Norfolk, Va., serves Virginia mud oysters for Blue Points—a libel on the latter, the finest oyster grown.—N. Y. Fishing Gazette.

A libel on the Norfolk hotel keepers, pure and simple. Virginians do not have calls for Blue Points except when a northerner that does not know a good thing in oysters, or is poor in bivalence nomenclature, calls for them. With our Lynn Haven, Horn Harbor and Carters Creek oysters—which the world cannot beat—we do not have to rely on Blue Point. But the fellow that insists on calling for the only oyster he has ever heard about must be humored, and when he is handed out some of our crack-o-jacks, thinking they are Blue Points, he never wants any other. Hence the reputation of Blue Points among the T. P. A's.

"SPEAKING OF things," and railroads in particular, the scheme to get under the frozen Behring sea (seeing's how we can't get over it), makes apropos a ludicrous incident, of interest locally rather than generally. Homer Schoey, the dusky valet that Capt. Willard Newbill took from Irvington, was dreadfully seasick on the voyage from San Francisco to Honolulu. When he was told that land was in sight he waited patiently—"Cap'n Willard, is there a railroad here? Please, sir, let me go back to Irvington on the cars." Humorous, but not an unreasonable request—echoed thousands of times by others.

UNWILLING to "open old sores," the CITIZEN will transmit by private conveyance to our friend, the South-side Sentinel, "a list of quite a number of Montague appointments" and "Montague men" retained in office by the present administration. This is done for his information and future guidance, with the hope that friend Ryland will look with a little more complaisance and resignation on the "fortunes of war." He is not one to come the "cry baby" act, but we are distressed to see so many of his friends and some newspapers indulging.

AFTER a most brilliant fight by Democrats and a few independent spirits among the Republicans led by Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, the Republican ranks were lined up by the party lash and the railroad rate regulation bill was robbed of its stings. The railroads are happy, having scored another victory against the people by their enormous power of money and political pull.

Somebody left a dollar on the editor's desk. Was it intended that he should take a day off and have a good time with the boys, or was the dollar intended for the starving Japanese? Later: The editor found out that it was for the other heaven.—Stanton Dispatch.

Just pass it along this way. The "other heaven" is at our door—the fellow that pretended a like trick with us and didn't leave even the desk. Since when we have been scribbling on a dry-goods' box.

LEGISLATIVE AFTERMATH.

There have been few sessions of the legislature in many years in which more hard and painstaking work was done, especially in committee. Considering the limited time and the fact that the legislature was under a new constitution, the wonder is that so much was accomplished and accomplished so satisfactorily.—News Leader.

The recent Legislature passed 302 bills, though something like 1,500 in all were introduced. Governor Swanson is now engaged in the delectable task of reading this fascinating literature, and is truly earning his salary. Although he is making good progress, it will be some days yet before he can turn to more interesting things. The bills passed make a total of 1,200 enrolled pages. As soon as the Executive gets through with this work he will take up the consideration of other business which awaits his attention. He has yet to name the members of his staff and several boards. Then, too, he has a never-diminishing bundle of pardon petitions awaiting him, so his hands will be full for weeks to come.—Evening Journal.

A delegation of colored men called on Governor Swanson and made an offer to the choice of two sites for the colored deaf and dumb and blind asylum to be established by the State. The General Assembly made an appropriation of $5,000 for the beginning of the work. The colored men, to show their appreciation of the step taken for the relief of the colored unfortunate of the State, voluntarily offered to give the site to the State free of cost. One of the sites offered is at the True Reformers' home, near Westhampton, and the second is near Jonesboro, the colored settlement below Richmond. The delegation was composed of Giles B. Jackson, the Rev. Dr. A. Binga, Jr., the Rev. Thomas Johnson, Editor W. W. Brown, W. L. Johnson and Alexander W. Holmes.—Index Appeal.

The impression that a deficit in the estimated revenues of the State has been created by the appropriations made is erroneous, according to the best informed officials and members of the General Assembly. Auditor Marye, discussing the report, said that it does not seem at all probable that the appropriations have wiped out the surplus in the treasury and created a deficit, as one newspaper report has it. Speaker Cardwell and the men on the finance committees of House and Senate are all good business men and too cautious to make such a contingency possible. True, the State gave away far more than she has ever before done. But there is no reason to believe that there will be any scaling of appropriations because of the lack of money. The finance committees of the Senate and House (the former headed by Senator Wickham and the latter by Col. Bowman) do not do business in a loose manner. They are careful. Every move taken by those bodies was after consultation with the auditor, and he is one of the most careful men in the State. When accounts are balanced it will be seen that the officers have made exceedingly liberal appropriations and that there will be a safe balance in hand at the end of the year. The increase in the pay of members of the Legislature, in the salaries of the Supreme Court judges and in other salaries present General Assembly, which was elected for two years, is in existence.

POLITICAL.

According to reports from Washington Senator Gorman is an invalid for life, and will not be able to engage longer in active business or political affairs.

As noted on our local page the committee for this congress district has set a date for the holding of a primary election to nominate a candidate for congress. The price of admission to the race is three hundred dollars. This bars poor men and those of moderate means, and in this is not democratic. A party professing to be for the people, of the people and by the people should be ashamed of such dealing. With all its doings, wise and otherwise, the Democratic legislature just ended did nothing in the way of primary election legislation.—Stanton Argus.

At a meeting of the Democratic committee for the First congressional district of Virginia, held in the city of Richmond, Tuesday March 13, 1906, it was ordered that the Democratic primary to select a candidate for representative in the Sixtieth congress shall be held Saturday June 16, 1906, and that all persons desiring to become candidates at said primary shall give notice in writing of their candidacy on or before Saturday, the 14th day of April, 1906. The following resolution was also adopted: Resolved, That each candidate, whom amount is to be paid at the time of filing notice of candidacy.—T. J. DOWNING chairman.

WINDER CAPTURED.

Isaac H. Winder (colored), the murderer of Frederick Rinehart, toll-gate keeper, who escaped jail at Towson on Monday, March 5, was captured Tuesday afternoon by Chief of Police Abraham Street, of Baltimore county, who trailed him to a small declivity on a hillside, covered him with his revolver and ordered him to throw up his hands. Winder saw that resistance or flight was useless, and at the command his hands went up over his head, while the Chief advanced on him, holding out handcuffs with the other hand. "Put out your hands," "Ike," said the Chief, quietly, and Winder obeyed the second command, remarking: "Well, Mr. Street, you has got me at last."

What It Means

We're tired of answering questions! "Fewer Gallons; Weas Longer!" means that you don't have to paint to use so much paint. Costs less for the job, and you don't have to do the job so often.

The new paint is not new at all. It's the biggest-selling paint in the United States, and the firm that makes it is 102 years old.

CALLS SPEAKER DESPOT.

A vigorous and open attack upon Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives, was made by Mr. Shackelford of Missouri. He categorized Mr. Cannon as an "enthroned despot," saying: "The gentleman (Mr. Brooks) was not recognized until he had first surrendered his Constitutional rights as a representative of the people, and crept into your private room, Mr. Speaker, there to supplicate you to extend to him your grace."

"No member can submit any matter to a vote of the House until he shall have first sought and found favor in your sight. The Constitution contemplates that the Speaker shall be the servant of the House. In defiance of the Constitution, you have made yourself its master. You have packed every committee so that no bill can be reported without your consent. Unless you are willing, no member can move to discharge a committee from the consideration of a bill and take it up in the House."

"You sit an enthroned despot, subjecting the right and destinies of this great people to the dictates of your own unbridled will."

"Who stands today between a progressive, enlightened people and the Statehood to which they are entitled? You, sir! Only you. You crack your whip at your feet. You turn your thumbs down and the House deals a death blow to prostrate, bleeding Oklahoma."

Here Mr. Shackelford said he had read in the morning papers that "Uncle Joe" had given it out flat-footed that he would not permit the house to concur in the Senate amendment on the Statehood bill, and then proceeded:

"What a horrible announcement to be made in a free country!"

The confusion in the House throughout Mr. Shackelford's remarks was such that very few members knew what he had said when Mr. Tawney stopped him with an objection.

NEWS ITEMS.

At least twenty miners have lost their lives in the snowslides which have cut off from all outside communication 600 miners employed in the various mines within a radius of twenty miles from Ouray, Colorado. It is said there is sixty feet of snow at Camp Bird. In the Imogene basin the snow is from 150 to 300 feet deep.

The dazzling scheme for a tunnel under Behr's Strait and an all-rail route from the United States to Europe may become a reality. Baron Lobel, representing the American Trans-Alaska-Siberian Company, has submitted reports to the Russian Ministers concerning the financial responsibility of the undertaking.

The Russian papers are still printing daily lists of the losses sustained during the war with Japan—so far 151,000 killed, wounded and disappeared. The lists covering the fighting at Mukden are just beginning to appear. A remarkable feature is the percentage of men whose fate is unknown, having been abandoned on the field of battle.

Although the State law requires that ministers performing the marriage ceremony make prompt returns of licenses the auditor has no reports of marriages from 23 counties and several cities, showing that the law is disregarded. So far as records show there was not a single marriage in Alexandria, Roanoke and Radford, and the following counties: Bath, Bedford, Buckingham, Dickinson, Franklin, Giles, Goochland, Lee, Lunenburg, Mathews, Montgomery, Northampton, Northumberland, Nottoway, Orange, Prince George, Pulaski, Rappahannock, Roanoke, Russell, Smyth, Tazewell, Warren and Warwick.

SOME BOAT NOTES.

Steamer Dr. W. J. Newbill took a load of oyster shuckers from the Rappahannock to Crisfield this week.

The bottom of the big four mast schooner George M. Grant, stranded off Cape Henry has dropped out on account of the awful pounding the vessel received, and she is floating on her cargo of railroad ties, something which is perhaps unprecedented in the marine line in these waters.

Charley Watkins, deckhand on the steamer Ann Arundel, was drowned Monday morning while the steamer was lying at Lodge Wharf, Northumberland county. While attempting to descend from the hurricane deck to the lower deck, it is thought he missed his footing and fell overboard. His body was recovered.

In a few days the Crisfield Steam Packet Company will put on a steamer to connect Crisfield with Redville, Va. The object is to put Redville in touch with Philadelphia and New York markets for the fish which are shipped from that point. Heretofore Baltimore has been the only market or outlet for that section of Virginia. This new line will give them the advantage of the best fish market. It will connect at Crisfield with New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad, arriving here daily in time to ship by the 6:30 P. M. train.—Crisfield Times.

LOCK LIES.

The Misses Stiff had quite a number of friends to spend a few days with them last week, among whom we note Misses Stella Stiff, Marion Dutton and Lucy Hart.

Quite an interesting case was tried here on Wednesday last before Justice A. W. Stiff. It seems that A. M. Sadler, of Middlesex, wrote Jessy Ashburn, of Weems, Lancaster county, a libelous letter, reflecting upon him and family. Acting upon the advice of counsel, he swore out a warrant and prosecuted Sadler criminally, with the result of a fine of $25 and costs.

FISH AND OYSTER NOTES

Trappers are ready to put out their traps, but some are not doing so owing to the bay being full of sea-nettles. A few have put out but had their traps torn up, and fish are very scarce yet.

It is stated that Joseph Wharton, of Philadelphia, has purchased control of the Fisheries Company, at No. 129 Front street, this city. The price is said to have been $2,500,000. It is proposed to combine the Fisheries Company, the American Fisheries Company, and the Atlantic Fisheries Company, which manufactures the machinery used in menhaden fishing. The headquarters of the concern will be in Philadelphia.—N. Y. Herald of Sunday.

A bill introduced in the New Jersey Senate, if enacted into law, will create a trust in seed oysters and bar out several hundred baymen and small planters, who have heretofore enjoyed whatever advantages that were in the right to plant seed oysters and take from the natural beds. The bill will place control of the natural beds in the hands of a score of planters and would make them dictators in Atlantic county. An appeal to the Governor is promised if the bill should get through.

The State of Virginia is to have a new steamer, properly armed for enforcing the oyster laws of the State and to prevent depredations by the "pirates" of the Chesapeake bay and the Potomac river. An appropriation of $20,000 for that purpose was made at the last session of the Legislature and no one can question the wisdom of that expenditure. The better protection, which it will give to the oyster industry, means growth and development in the business and necessarily an increase in the revenues of the State.—Peninsula Enterprise.

Virginia shad, the most toothsome of American food fish, reached Baltimore last week, and there is joy in the land. "Roe shad at $1 to $1.25, choice bucks at 75 to 95 cents. The big fish are scarce, but we will see that you are supplied," was the answer telephoned by wholesale fish dealers in response to scores of inquiries over the wires for shad.

They were not brought to market packed in ice and as stiff as boards when placed on sale in the local market. They began to arrive in small numbers about two weeks ago, and despite the great storm of snow, hail and wind that has hung over local waters for several days past, retarding their progress up the bay, they are expected to arrive at the Susquehanna spawning grounds on schedule time.

THE PATENT TONG LAW.

The bill passed at the recent session of the Legislature permitting the use of patent tongs in the waters of Virginia (exclusive of James and Nansemond rivers) will become operative October 1st next. Their use will be permitted during the months of October, November and December of each year, until the law is repealed. This three months' amendment was tacked on during the hot fight over the bill. While it was fought by the friends of the oystermen, still the restriction of three months will be a good feature, certainly on the Rappahannock. It is customary for patent-tong workers to flock here after Christmas, but now they cannot use the patent tongs at that time. Then again, the rough usage of the beds by patent tongs will not continue after January first, and the oysters will have rest and prepare to spawn.

HOW TO PROTECT GRAPES.

EDITOR CITIZEN:—As this is to be a farmers', truckers' and fruit growers' week I would like to contribute the following to those who are lovers of good grapes and cannot raise them on account of rot, mildew, etc. I secure some two-pound Manila paper bags and just as soon as the grapes are set—about the size of a No. 6 shot—put a bunch in each bag and pin the bags over the vines to hold them on. To properly do this cut off the two top corners when the points left in the middle can be readily pinned over the top of the vine. Cut off one of the lower corners to let out any water that may get into the bag. The grapes will grow and mature in the sacks and be much finer than those outside; and, besides, will be protected not only from all fungi growths, but from birds and bees as well. The above will be found to be easier, cheaper and better than spraying a few vines for family use.

EMMERTON.

Misses Nannie Rock and Edith Cralle left Monday for Baltimore, to take up their duties with Armstrong, Cator & Co.

Miss Mary Fisher, who has been teaching in the family of R. S. Davis, at Tidewater, closed her school last week and returned home.

Miss Lottie Gregory is visiting relatives in Lancaster.

Miss Helen Oldham closed her school on Tuesday last and returned to her home here.

Miss Mamie Hanks recently visited her sister, Mrs. N. B. Clark, at Wicomico.

Mrs. R. S. Davis, who has been quite sick, is rapidly improving.

Mrs. Minnie Cralle was the welcome guest of Mrs. T. R. Hanks this week.

Mrs. K. N. Hanks is in Baltimore purchasing her spring stock of millinery.

Capt Joe Davis, G. N. Hanks and Mrs. R. H. Hook are on the sick list.

The ladies aid society of Jerusalem Baptist Church had a quilting at Mrs. Ella Sisson's on Wednesday last week. Quite a large number were present.

Miss Alla Yeatman was the welcome guest of Mrs. E. R. Hammock last week.

M. B. Hammock's handsome residence is nearing completion. PINKY.

A BALLAD OF THE TIMES.

Everybody's hunting Winder;
Everybody's got a gun;
Everybody's got a bottle
Filled with red-eye rum.
Everybody's got an inkling
They quick can run him down;
Everybody comes back loaded
To daffy Towson town.

Everybody's out a hunting,
Everybody makes a flunk;
Everybody's a bughouse,
Raving crazy drunk.
Everybody's a nuisance,
Save to the barroom till;
Everybody's raising hells
In hey rube Cockeysville.

Everybody's a detective;
Everybody's butting in;
Everybody's getting caught
On whisky, beer and gin.
Everybody else is sneering
As they read the story through;
Giving credit to the nigger,
To the only one it's due.

—J. E. H. in Balto. Herald.

Noting how the rabble are being out-pointed by the Towson negro that broke jail, and how John Barleycorn is animating the mobs that are hunting him, the above is not amiss. Some great jokes are going the rounds at the expense of the county authorities. A 'phone ring called up Towson town jail. In answer to the "Hello, who are you?" a voice said, "I am Winder." "Where are you?" "That's for you to find out. Say, if you don't make Hurricane Branch pay tax on his dogs, I'll stop playing." Another 'phone informed the jail authorities that the pursued negro was at a certain blacksmith shop making a lock for Towson jail. The authorities actually sent an officer there to see if it was so.

Afflicted With Rheumatism.

"I was and am yet afflicted with rheumatism," says Mr. J. C. Bayne, editor of the Herald, Addison, Indiana Territory, "but thanks to Chamberlain's Pain Balm am able once more to attend to business. It is the best of liniments." If troubled with rheumatism, get Chamberlain's Pain Balm at once. It is more than proved with the prompt relief which it affords. One application relieves the pain.

NOMINI GROVE.

Mrs. A. J. Rock, of Oldhams, who has been sick with the grip, is a little improved, under Dr. A. C. Fisher's treatment.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Fones is ill with pneumonia.

Miss Effie Gutridge, teacher of Antioch public school, has a seven month term. She has not lost a day during the session.

Sunday school at Beulah church will be reorganized 4th Sunday in March. It is the earnest desire of this school to have John L. Beale fill the office as superintendent, as he has so acceptably filled this capacity at this church for the past four years.

Emmett Coates is greatly missed from our midst, having accepted a position as clerk in the store of J. J. Crowder & Son, at Redville. He has our best wishes. R. D. C.

MONTROSS.

Judge Wright had a number of "speak-easy" cases before him at last term of Circuit Court. Some of the cases were fined and some were dismissed for insufficient evidence.

The Anti-Saloon League, though not fully organized, bids fair to be an important factor in the future for depressing the illegal liquor traffic.

An entertainment was given at the Town Hall for the benefit of St. James Episcopal church on February 28th. The severe storm prevented a large attendance. A beautiful programme was prepared, and will be rendered again.

Miss Lucy Barrack has been quite ill, but is now improving.

Julia Reed, a well known colored woman, is reported to be still mentally deranged. She was carried to Petersburg about a year ago and remained till the authorities said she could return to her home with safety.

Mrs. Robinson Loving, and her interesting family, who have been guests at "Windsor," the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Chandler, have returned to their home in Washington.

Wm. Goldsby, of Washington, has opened a jewelry store at Montross.

The schools here, both white and colored, have been largely and regularly attended this season.

John Muse is building a substantial fish pond in which he will put a lot of mountain trout as an experiment. ANONA.

AGREAT COMPLIMENT TO THE PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO.

The report of the investigating committee of the New York legislature regarding the life insurance business, has been printed and is an interesting document of 319 pages. It has been referred to the proper committee and its many valuable suggestions to improved legislation will be carefully considered, and many of them enacted into laws.

It is a great compliment to the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Philadelphia, that a number of the most valuable recommendations made by the committee as to practices and methods have been in vogue in the Penn for many years.

Conservative business methods of this old Quaker institution are now advocated by the insurance investigating committee.

Philadelphia may be slow, as some New Yorkers think, but for the best practices and methods in life insurance, the reliable old Penn Mutual can not be excelled.

Captain Cunningham Hall, Richmond, Va., is the General Agent of the Penn in Virginia, and Mr. O. W. Hughtlett, of Kilmarnock, is the District Agent for this section.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of my beloved husband, Thomas Jones, who departed this life five years ago today, March 19, 1901. Gone but not forgotten. Five mournful years have vanished, yet the tears drop start in memory of my dear husband, still fresh within my heart.

Oh! the misery of that dreary day,
When I stood around his bed—
Till death stole upon him softly,
I knew his soul had fled.

Al, since then my life is saddened;
Since that day my hopes are slain.
But his voice seems softly saying,
Courage, we shall meet again.

Friends may think we soon forgot him,
And our wounded hearts had healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That is in heart unhealed.
